EDITOR'S NOTE

It never ceases to amaze me just how much student talent we have in our school.

Although much of this talent is represented in the pages of this magazine, I know that there is a great deal more underdeveloped talent out there in our student ranks.

Fortunately, it is becoming less fashionable to "hide one's light under a bushell" and more and more young people in this school are taking pride in their achievements and sharing them with others.

Sadly, however, there are still many talented students in our school who are afraid to 'have a go', afraid someone will criticise or laugh at their efforts or who are just too lazy to develop their abilities.

Congratulations to all who took the time and effort required to submit material for this year's magazine and special thanks to the Magazine Committee and all who assisted in bringing to you TAHI 1988.

Staff Notes — 1988

As scribe of Staff movements I am appalled at this year's end at the task for which I'm called. When one or two go, three or four is bad enough, but when a whole Department goes it's really tough. So Jim, Debbie, and Janice too, what can be said to farewell you?

Dear Jim, oh whiskery garlic breathing wright, you hirsute genius, sensitive wight. Whose gnomic knowledge carefully spelled delights the ear and quells what's fustian said. You have a soul my friend, let's not deny, your art stands high though your appearance's shy. Such columns there are, Corinthian, Doric, and Ionic; there's another one too, though here I'll frolic. The turkey gobble what became of that, as many a beer went down the hatch? When Geoff, with vision bold, the Marae prescribed, 'twas you with inward perceptive eyes contrived. To bring this image of family to fruition, so there the whanau stands with Noah in position. And if I let my fancy roam apace, there's more than a little of you in that bearded face. Your students will miss a master in his craft, the artist's vision draft on draft, until is achieved that which the soul demands, perfection to a point - as there you stand. Who'll talk of Ruskin and the feminine form, Durer, the Renaissance, and dear Jane? I'll be forlorn. Think well, dear friend, you leave us many gifts. A man's reach exceeds his grasp, or what's a heaven for? the poet asks. You've shown us this - God bless you Jim, you've touched us all in ways sublime.

Now Debbie, what a lovely blessing, demure, calm, and self effacing.
Such brilliance from the fair of face, the art which shows with effortless grace.
The care and love she shows for all, the big, the small,the round the tall.
Upon the hockey pitch this lady fair, transmogrified, a hoyden is, as up the line she shouts and glares.

Sweetness yet is unalloyed by chance, Her acts, her mind, provide governance. What will I do without a chat, with Debbie to settle this or that? Her students have gained much withal, her absence will create a pall. To Blenheim go you there with Keith, on the Mainland, to the South beneath. God bless your baby and you our sweet, Memories will last, though time will fleet. To Janice Kraus such soon farewelling, You're off to fill another dwelling. May you return as duties will allow, we need you here we all do trow.

Mark You

A demesne there is of peculiar type, where one does hear the strangest hype. The commercial world of Bev and Win, to lose Rangi does create a din. She's dean of all the weeny thirds, and done big jobs though no one's heard, We said farewell to Jillian Reid, when first she circumscribed the globe. To Thailand now she wends her track, but soon, no doubt, she may be back. Sean Cantwell left 'ere we forget, forsooth an arithmetician of cleanly habit. A hairy chest and muscled thighs, now girls elsewhere will cast some sighs. Good folk in these lines of verse, I've tried to see your best side not your worst. Enough of this, it's late at night, tell me 'What's the Latin name for 'parsley'?, what's the Greek name for Swine's Snout?'

A Short Farewell Note

Arriving from Dunedin to Tokoroa was somewhat of a culture shock. I didn't have time to let this disturb me though for the immersion process began almost immediately.

My first task, even before the school year started, was to help paint the ceiling panels for Te Whanau A Noa. This special place has been the source of much personal growth for me.

To that, I would like to thank the staff and students, past and present, for what I have learnt here. It has truly enriched my life.

Myself, Keith and little? are off on a new learning experience. We hope that what we've learnt as part of Te Whanau A Noa will make our family unit as strong.

Farewell, for now. Debbie

Dear Tokoroa High School,

During the eleven years that it has been my privilege to teach at this school I have gotten to know heaps of people (in spite of still being useless at remembering names!)

What remains most vivid in my memory of Tokoroa High is the sentiments that Pia Tahuri often used to express when she was here ...

"Jim ... the kids at this school are beautiful, each is so unique!"

....So true.....

My experience I'm sure has not been much different from most folk teaching at this school ... that in spite of all of the petty trials and tribulations of day to day life — when you really need the help our folk here are really tops ... and that's rich in todays "greedy" world...

But then, we are of Te Whanau a Noa ... I am so grateful that my own children have attended this school. The unique "strengthening" that this place offers is of the best, no more, no less.

Love and kirnd regards to you all...

Jim Wyley

When you read this I shall have spent the last month in Thailand. My thoughts at this moment of writing are ambivalent.

I am looking forward to visiting a new country, meeting new people, tasting exotic foods, and generally relaxing.

On the other hand, my connection with Tokoroa High School has always been strong, and so it is with some regret that I leave my dasses, which I have enioved.

Jillian Reid

Principal's Message

Congratulations to the team who have worked so well in producing this years magazine, especially to the editor Mrs Graham.

The magazine is a record of the effort and involvement of students and teachers in a very wide range of activities.

While reading this record it is an appropriate time for all of us to be thinking about and setting our goals for next year. The restructuring of the education system as outlined in "Tomorrows Schools" is being implemented.

We face an exciting and demanding future as a school. We all must develop a clear ideal of the kind of school we wish to become and our part in that structure, remembering always the wisdom of the proverb, 'He aha ke hoki te mea nui o te ao hei? He tangata, He tangata, He tangata!' 'What is the most important thing in the world? The people, people, people!'

Board of Governors 1988

Kia Ora, Greetings.

The year is nearly over. For some students, this is the time of intensive preparation for the next phase of their education at tertiary level.

Some look ahead to the vacation period, others face an uncertain new year, an uncertainty felt by other students throughout the country due to the economic conditions.

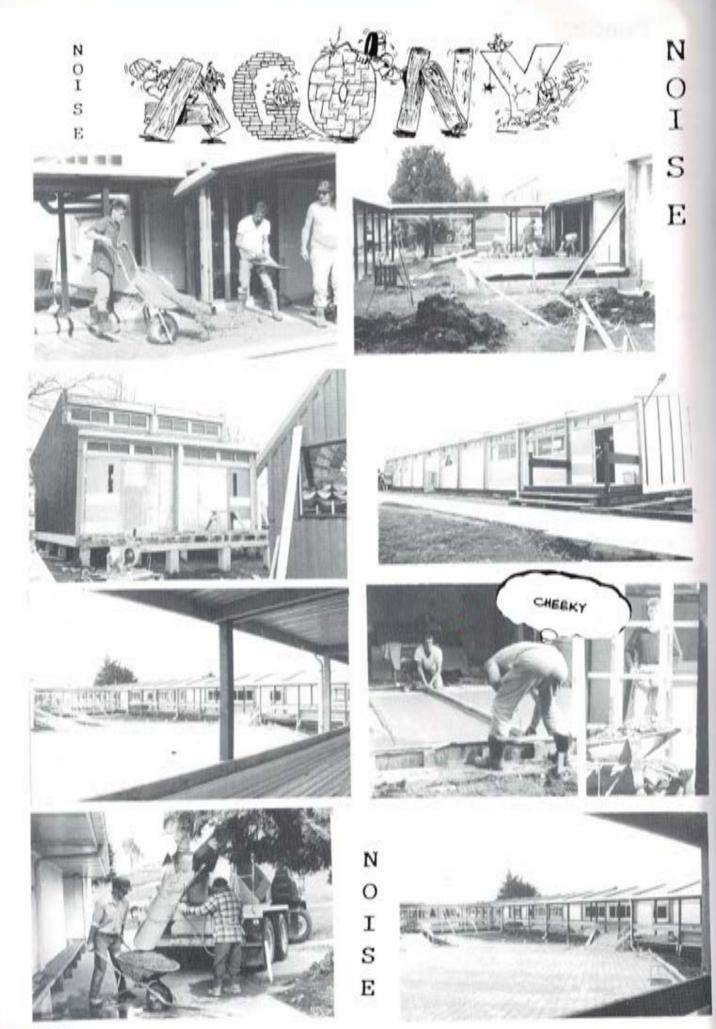

Throughout the year, the principal and staff of the school in collaboration with students and parents, have worked extremely hard to meet the objectives of the school.

On behalf of the members of the Board of Governors, I thank them all. I thank the principal, Mr John Lambert especially for his leadership.

The Deputy chairman of the board, Mr Gerry Portegys, has chaired a variety of meetings for the board. I thank him and board members for their work for the school which demands considerable personal time.

Kia Ora.

P. Morgan Q.S.M.

New Buildings

It is quite remarkable that very shortly all the rooms in the new C block will be in use.

The noise, din, cacophony which emanated from the site; the dust, mud, debris, trodden, squelched, deposited all over our school — mercifully that will be of the past.

Remarkably too that when King Solomon built the house for the Lord (1 Kings chapter 6) "There was neither hammer nor axe nor any tool or iron heard in the house, while it was in building". It was even built in prefabricated sections!

One thing we can be grateful for is that our buildings did not take seven years to complete!

We have a Resource Centre, Reading Room, an English classroom, a Second languages classroom and a Language Laboratory all in one section.

In the other sections scenically separated by walkways and a courtyard, are Science rooms in one, and in the other a Home Education room and a truly magnificent Common room for Senior pupils.

May we all learn to respect and value this environment.

EXECUTIVE OFFICER

1988 will probably be remembered by our Executive Officer as one of the most challenging years in her career.

This was the year of the massive rebuilding programme after the devastating C Block Fire of 1987. Newly appointed at the beginning of this year, Kathryn Kendall became the first woman to hold the position of Executive Officer at Tokoroa High School.

Not only has Kathryn dealt with the complexities of the Executive Officer's brief with calm efficiency, but she has also coped with all the additional liaison work for the new building project.

Thank you Kathryn and welcome to Tokoroa High School.

Teacher Only Day

Here's living proof that teachers actually work on Teacher Only Day!

Topics such as "Reporting", the School Philosophy and Teacher Effectiveness were examined, discussed and analysed by the staff.

It is amazing just how much can be achieved without such distractions as bells, telephones and (dare we say it?) students!

Putaturu Timber Museum provided a comfortable venue for a very worthwhile day.

A pat on the back is only a few vertebrae removed from a kick in the pants, but is miles ahead in results.

European Study Tour

Mrs Poko Morgan (chairperson of our Board of Governors) was among a group of women selected to study early childhood education in The Hague, Holland, and later in Wales.

Sixteen days of intensive training in Holland focused on evaluation and administration of the projects undertaken, and included representatives from Zimbabwe, South Africa, Curacas, Pakistan, Ireland, the United States and New Zealand.

We are quite sure that New Zealand and Tokoroa in particular will benefit from your experience.

Sincere congratulations.

National Roller-Skating

Natalie Keith, a 15-year-old Tokoroa High School fourth-former, has been named in the National Roller Skating Under-16 training squad.

She is one of twelve skaters named in the squad and was chosen to skate in both the figures and freestyle sections.

A multiple Tokoroa Roller Skating Club and Waikato/Bay of Plenty Region title-holder, Natalie is also very interested in netball and takes plano lessons from Mrs Robyn Wolfe, a music teacher at Tokoroa High School.

Science Conference

T.H.S. science teacher, Mrs Kath Woodley won an all expenses paid 'working holiday' at the Sheraton Hotel, Auckland, where she attended "Sicon '88" — a nation-wide science conference in August.

Three students, Rochelle Olding, Gek Soy Kuoch and Kylie Bryers nominated Mrs Woodley for selection.

Decor

Well done Mrs Pudsey. The curtains in E6 look super!

Promotion

Congratulations to Mr Shaun Cantwell on being appointed to a position of responsibility in mathematics at Forest View High School.

Thank you Shaun for all your fine work at T.H.S. and best wishes for your career.

Scholarship

lan McDonald topped off his outstanding academic school achievements last year by winning a University Scholarship.

lan, who was the only student in the South Waikato to receive scholarship, is currently studying Business Management at Waikato University.

Judo Championships

Jocelyn Carey was placed first in the under fifty kilogram event at the 1988 Secondary Schools Open Judo Championships and Aaron Montgomery was second in the over seventy kg event and third equal in the open weight contest. Well done!

New Baby

Congratulations to Mrs Brunton (and Mr Brunton too) on the birth of a son, David Joel, born on August 9, 1988.

Maori Speech Contest

The National Final of the Maori Women's Welfare League speech contest held in Nelson this year was won convincingly by David Cowan of T.H.S.

David who has won many distinctions with his outstanding command of the Maori language, hopes to make teaching his career.

Weaponary Wananga

Five T.H.S. boys have been chosen to join a national squad of sixty-seven New Zealand students who will tour Hawaii, Los Angeles and Tiajuna in January as part of a cultural exchange.

Congratulations to Jason Hikuroa, Leslie O'Connor, Leon O'Connor, Larn Wilkinson and Jason Walters who will represent the Mckoia Weaponary Wananga which specialises in the art of Taiaha.

Music Hath Charm

The Chinese Ambassador is reported to have been very impressed with the singing of Elton Raitt.

Elton, who sang at the Chinese Embassy in Wellington chose a number from the musical "Grease" in which he performed early this year in Tokoroa.

The Waikato Science Fair

Once again Science students entered projects in the Waikato Science Fair which was held in Hamilton. Schools from all over the Waikato put in 300 entries with 8 of these coming from our school.

The range of projects on display varied from simple science ideas through to the most complicated. Some of the entries are from Intermediate schools right through to 7th form entries. Students from our school once again excelled in their presentation and quality of their work. Many students work from other schools has a lot of teacher assistance, but our students work is all their own. When you consider the prize that we received were even more meritorious. Craig Malins collected a first prize in the Energy section and a second in the Technology section. Craig's project was about Alternative Energy sources, using cow manure as a starting point and producing natural gas. Our other prize winner was Rachel Malins, who collected a 2nd place for her Magnetism display in the Physical Experimental section.

A bus load of students from school visited the Science Fair and were very impressed by the standard of the projects, especially those from Tokoroa High School. Most of the students who entered enjoyed the experience and are going to enter a project next year.

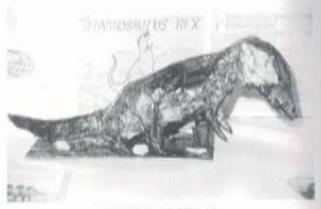

Craig's winning entry.

Etevise, Selina and Rachael.

Craig and Rachel Malins with Mrs Woodley.

Entry by Leonie Winter.

Waikato Science

1988 has been a tremendous year for the students who participated in the Waikato Science course. Not only did we understand what we were taught, but had a lot of fun times as well. The activities we do are what interests us, so we tend to learn more and listen in.

In April we went on a field trip to the bush, with us we had two experienced bush men. Not only did we eat, walk and talk but also learnt things we never knew before. What interested me the most was how many little things you can have with you in a little tin that can save your life. The trip was very useful and something we should all learn about. Now at 16 I know how to survive in the bush, what equipment to have and mountain safety. I learnt all that in one day.

Also we studied a car motor, for the girls it was a lot different than mixing chemicals as for the boys, they knew it all.

Overall, I would say Waikato Science has been one of the best learning experiences I have been through. I gained a lot from it as well as enjoyed it very much. At the end there is a good reward — you walk away with eight certificates to help you in the future.

And Yet He Lives On....

I couldn't believe it. He looked so old. People had been telling me how much better he was, but to see him hunched over his food, saliva trickling down his chin - it filled me with pity.

We talked for a while. His memory amazed me. I kept expecting him to forget a name or a place, but that would be admitting defeat.

He coughed. All the smoking had reduced his cough to a hollow rasp. It sounded like his lungs were in tatters. I wanted to weep but I smiled on valiantly, wondering how much time he really had left.

He was always a gentleman - holding my chair, opening the door. These actions were remnants of a longforgotten, chivalrous era. I kissed and hugged him and squeezed his hand. I told him to enjoy the chocolates I had brought him. I felt they were a superficial offering. I was trying to replace my absence with a box of chocolates but I didn't want to see him empty-handed. It seemed to mean so much to him to see that I cared enough to remember him. Never the less I felt I was buying him off.

I turned back to wave as I pulled out. All I saw was a bent, old shell of a man stumbling back into the warmth.

Driving alongside the harbour I saw Wellington's lights twinkling onto the water. It looked so pretty and alive. I thought in despair about him. He was no longer pretty or alive. The sadness I felt was a mourning sadness. I had to wonder if I'd ever see him again.

When he died I would cry as I'm crying now. I loved ..., no, love him. He, the weak one, had outlived them all. It was poetic justice. It was his final act of defiance, And yet ... he looked so old. I couldn't believe it.

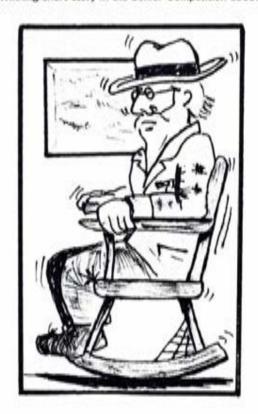

Keay Burridge, 1988

Sounds In The Night

Late at night, or early morning. whichever one it was, I awoke to the booming sound of thunder, and the flash of lightning. Then out of nowhere came the sound of an aeroplane, And a thought crept into my mind - of old war films, Where the screeching sound of gunfire lit up the darkened sky, like streaks of lightning. They dropped their bombs, and like thunder they exploded, and this thought made it very hard to get back to sleep.

HALLOWEEN (B)

The School Senior Ball is a new thing for me because my school in Thailand does not have it. This was the first time that I had to learn about formal dance and got the chance to wear a tusedo. I spent two or three days learning how to dance formally.

At the ball everybody danced but it was disco. There were a few teachers who did formal dancing while we were having dinner. I was a little disappointed but I still had fun that night with disco dancing and taking photos. I watched my teachers disco dancing, especially Mrs Law and I reckon she is a very good dancer.

I think our Senior Ball was very good and it gave us a chance to have fun and learn about social life.

Don't Forget To Say Goodbye

I looked up into my mother's red-rimmed eyes, inner feelings battling inside me. A sense of dread, and an intuitive sense of certainty overpowered me, and I sank into a chair as my knees gave way. My eyes filled with tears, and I choked out.

"Mum, no! It can't be. There must be a mistake!" A small flame of hope rose inside me, as I silently pleaded with my mother, hoping it was all a crue! joke. The seconds before she shook her head seemed like hours, and when she sadly shook her head my tears extinguished the flame of hope, and my whole world tumbled down around my ears.

"I'm sorry Stephanie, there is no mistake. At eleven, this morning. His ... he ... an oncoming truck had a blowout, crossed the lane, and ... Honey, it was instantaneous. He didn't know."

I leaped up and ran from the room, my tears flowing freely now, my mind racing with the poignant childhood memories.

Andy, Dead!

No! It was impossible. Andy. My only brother. My mind went back to this morning, before I had left for school. He was leaving for Auckland this morning, to join a motorcycle tour group.

"So long ugly!" I had called as I was leaving for school.

"Hey small fry! Don't you call me ugly!" he had laughed. "Everyone reckons you look like me! Aren't you lucky!"

His laughter followed me, as he slipped his helmet on, and straddled his motorbike. I had left, and that was it.

"I didn't know, Andy," I cried. "I didn't know it was forever!"

Damn! These things weren't supposed to happen to 18 year old boys. Not to anyone you know. Sure, I knew the statistics. But not Andy. This had to be a nightmare, an awful nightmare. I pinched my arm. It was real. A living nightmare.

My body gave in to convulsive shudders as I looked at a charcoal sketch of Andy I had done the year before. Andy, 6 foot 1, blonde hair, brown eyes, the mischievous grin that never left his face. Not Andy. He was too alive, full of love, and a sense of get up and go.

Eleven o'clock this morning. I had heard the siren. Second period English. My friend had turned to me "The arsonist again, what's the bet?" she challenged as a number of buildings had been burned down by an arsonist in the past year. We laughed. I laughed. Andy was dead and I laughed. I didn't know.

I looked up from the sketch, blinked and rubbed my eyes. Andy stood by my bed.

"Hey, Stef, why're ya crying?" he teased.
"Andy" I shrieked. "You're supposed to be dead!"
Mum raced into my room.

"Steffi, Steffi, Andy's not here. He's dead. Accept it." she said firmly, shaking me. She was right. He'd gone. Forever. An eternity. So definite. So final.

"Mum" I cried, tears spilling down my face "Why? Why Andy? Why now? Why couldn't we know beforehand? I never told him I loved him. And I did!"

She sighed, her own eyes filling with tears.
"Stephanie. These things happen. Andy knew you and I loved him, and dad too, even though he's not here. It doesn't seem fair, does it?" she answered softly.

She left the room. Memories flooded, tumbling, like water over stones in a brook, through my mind, and I replayed our lives together, like slides in a projector.

Andy and I had always been close, even though he was five years older than I was. When he teased me he called me a "mistake", I always hit him when he said that, and he tickled me until I cried from laughter.

We had shared everything, from toys as youngsters to books and clothes as we grew older. I loved Andy's hand-me-down clothes. In my younger days, I had worn his old t-shirts with racing cars and motorbikes on them. Even in more recent years I had inherited his outgrown sweatshirts and Heavy Metal t-shirts, with "iron Maiden" or "Dio" emblazoned on the front. He always borrowed my denim jacket, I always borrowed his track pants.

Now he was dead.

Life blurred on after that fateful day. Blurred like an out-of-focus photograph. I muddled through school, and somehow survived. As the days, weeks, months passed, I cried less and less, the memories, sharp and painful, still there, but definitely part of my past now. The pain lessened, until a dull ache, a stone in my shoe, so to speak, was all that remained.

It's two years now since Andy died, and he still lives on in my memories. I hope, someday, to share this with someone, to unburden my heart. Until I do that, I know my life will still feel slightly empty, and I'll never feel the same again.

Life on the Spirit of New Zealand

6 am morning call ensures everyone is on deck, in togs and running on the spot. In the middle of winter, this hour of the day is dark, overcast and very cold, yet no-one is exempt from the 'jump overboard' ritual except the engineer who is starting the generator, and the captain who is rechecking weather forecasts and doing what captains do.

0630 sees all the trainees busy scrubbing decks, polishing bells and wheel, peeling carrots and potatoes, cleaning cabins and making certain no-one is astronomically untidy.

0800 hours is time for raising of the ensign flag, reading of the weather forecast and making decisions on where to sail.

0830 is time for the first meal of the day; cereals, porridge, fruit and toast.

After breakfast has been cleaned up we usually had a lecture; either on hygiene, fire fighting, man overboard, navigation, nightwatch, distress signals, safety course, sails and, of course, the basic 'rules of the road'.

It wasn't till after lunch on most days that we actually got sailing but with excellent wind conditions we easily got to where we wanted to go.

On the third day on the boat I was captain, (the real one told me what to do, but I still had to make some decisions), and we sailed from Wenderholm (near Warkworth) to Walkawau Bay (Coromandel Peninsula). It was the first day we sailed on open seas and everybody, except two, were sea-sick.

In the evenings we watched videos or had a campfire if we were near land and the weather conditions allowed us to leave the boat. We went on land at Great Barrier Island and again on Kawau Island.

On my voyage there were 18 boys and 18 girls plus Cookie, the engineer, captain, first mate, second mate, third mate, two watch officers and four leading hands. We sailed from Auckland to Auckland taking 10 days in between.

On the last day we had to choose our own captain, first mate, two navigators and helmsperson from our group of trainees. I was voted helmsperson which was a nice easy job, but because of the lack of wind we had to set the motor going otherwise we wouldn't have got home.

The trainees came from all over New Zealand. I was the only one from the Walkato region, but there were two people from Clinton (Southern South Island) and two people from Kaltala (northern North Island), there were also two girls on Rotary exchanges; one was from Denmark and it was her second to last week in New Zealand and the other was from Japan and it was her third week in New Zealand. She found it the hardest as she was still learning to master our Kiwi accent and Kiwi slang.

Everyone was really close, like a big family. There were many tears with goodbyes and "heaps" of happy memories.

Rebecca Martin

In addition to Rebecca Martin, Keith Service pictured above and Sharon Nelmes were also fortunate enough to be selected to go on the "Spirit".

Korimako Speech Contest

The regional finals for the Bay of Plenty and the Western Bay of Plenty of the National Speech competitions (Nga Whakataetae mo nga manu Korero o nga Kura Tuarua) held at Tokoroa High School was a highly successful event.

A record of twenty schools participated and an estimated crowd of four hundred people attended. For the first time, Forest View High School and Tokoroa High School combined in welcoming the competitors.

Hosting the manuhiri was a mammoth task made easier by the support of the community and the Tokoroa High School staff and students, whose presence and support complemented the hospitality, food and organisation of the day.

The attesting factor was that, of the twenty schools which attended, only two left early due to prior commitments while the rest attended the haakari until 7,00 pm that evening.

Speeches were of an excellent standard and the judges avowed to the difficulty of selecting winners. The four sections of the competition were well attended and although the winners of each section were from the Whakatane and Te Kaha areas our speakers spoke with pride and clarity.

Jeremy Gray was placed third in the senior maori competition where the quality of the speeches was very high.

Shane Tito (Senior English) Meleane Ifa (Junior Maori) and Pilar Tahau (Junior English) all spoke well and should be proud of their achievements.

Overall, the day was a grand success. The school takes this opportunity to thank the community, the teachers, the senior students and the rest of the pupils for making this regional final a successful and memorable event.

Kia Kahal Kia manuial la manuial God bless.

Exchange Students

This year our school has hosted three A.F.S. students and one student from Japan on a private exchange.

We are fortunate to have Kayo Okaji and Haruko Ito from Japan (both young women) and Patipan Pasuwat (a young man) from Thailand more commonly known around the school as "Golf".

Heather Rison is our only student this year to come from the United States of America.

It is a demanding experience for these young people coming to a new country, new family and new customs but they all seem to have taken it in their stride and appear to be at ease with their peers and indeed in most situations.

Our outbound students this year included Terri-Anne Sommerville to Ohio and Greg Coulter to New Jersey, U.S.A. Terri-Anne is attending a school which has over two thousand students (twice as big as T.H.S.I) and Greg is at a private school close to New York.

In January Mark Hall goes to Japan as our Rotary Exchange student and Brendon Mischewski goes to Japan on a private exchange. Congratulations on being selected and best wishes to you all.

N.Z. Cultural Exchange

While overseas exchange programmes are nothing new to T.H.S. Siliva Gaugatao was selected to take part in a very special N.Z. exchange programme organised by the Race Relations Conciliation.

The purpose of the programme is to integrate students of different cultural backgrounds into new school environments.

Country students are placed in urban schools pakeha students in schools with a wide variety of cultures and Maori and Pacific Island students are placed in schools which are fairly mono-cultural.

Siliva, who is Samoan attended Pakuranga College for a term where he continued his Seventh Form studies, played clarinet in the school orchestra and played soccer for the First XI.

In exchange Siliva did much to make the students and staff at Pakuranga College aware of the Samoan culture.

Siliva was a fine ambassador for us all, and was spokesperson for all the students taking part in the exchange who came from the length and breadth of N.Z.

Tamaki College Art Exchange

We have now set the pattern for what promises to be an annual 'Art Exchange Visit' with Tamaki College in Auckland.

On Wednesday, July 27, a group of fifteen art students and staff from Tarnaki College were given a powhiri at Te Whanau-a-Noa, followed by lunch in the Wharekai.

For four days, Tokoroa High School art students entertained the visitors to such artistic treats as a trip to Kinleith, an art exhibition in Rotorua, a guided tour of Tokoroa and working together on art projects.

The highlight of the exchange was the 'Variety Show' on Friday night organised by Mrs Cave-Higgins and Joseph Leuii. This highly successful show included a wide variety of items from a cross-section of cultural groups in the school, body building demonstrations, poetry and songs.

"The State of the Arts' band featuring Shane, Vivienne, Joseph, Joshua, Trisha, Leeander, Hamish, Keay and Lysandra proved extremely popular with the crowd and has since gone on to perform very successfully at other functions.

The friendliness of the Tamaki students, and the interesting four day programme that we all took part in left us with very positive feelings and pleasant memories.

We look forward to visiting Tamaki next year.

The greatest thing a man can do in this world is to make the most possible out of the stuff that has been given to him. This is success.

Sam Hunt

It was too good an opportunity to miss!

Sam Hunt willing and able to attend Tok. High and render his own poetry — go for it!

So we did and I thoroughly enjoyed the experience

let's hope others did.

Sam grew up on Auckland's North Shore. At the end of his sixth form year, he 'dumped his books, hiked four hundred miles south, hitched up when I liked', and arrived in Wellington.

He's still based there.

As David Hill in his book 'On Poetry' says 'The vivid figure of New Zealand', own bionic bard, resplendent in old boots, unbuttoned shirt, tight black trousers which he calls Foxton Straights, and reciting his poems at public meetings in his scoria-and-syrup voice has become nationally and internationally known..."

The two phrases 'bionic bard' and 'scoria-and-syrup voice' were remarkably true!

His audience that rainy afternoon in July will agree with Alistair Campbell's comment, 'Sam is more committed to poetry than anyone I know. He lives poetry, drinks it, eats it, and no doubt will die with a poem on his lips and a tear in his not-so-blue eyes'.

Timeless Voyager

I paused, fearful, on the brink of jagged clifftops, Down ... far down ... further down ... my spirit drawn inexorably by waters bottomless and dark, that tumbled clumsily on rock, Echoing tones of muted thunder.

Icy blasts, pierced my soul with sorrow, Heard again, the threatening roar, and tumult of battle. Strife!

My hands, torn in crimson stain.

Yet, on distant, and vague horizon ... stood hope! Sanctuary!

Faces marched in legion ... torn by anguish.

Elsewhere ... I could not look ... but always back ... into the daunting mirror of darkness, and flame.

Gaunt, and lustreless eyes ... I remembered them. Those eyes that spoke in endless volumes.

That cry, haunts me to my innermost core ... Hawaiki Nuil

Hawaiki Roal

Hawaiki Pamamao!

It sang ... century upon century.

You Vikings ... who cast your shadows ever westward,

Gift me your tale of woe, that I may share your melancholy.

Iol ... that Supreme Being! His voice warms my inner self, and mayhap, I will know a beginning, to mystery.

In greatness! Splendid! It was ... Hawaiki! Deon Arloka F5, 1988

Riversong

Some men, travellers, hear the singing of the spheres. I, a traveller, weak with worry, heart too sore to break, I have heard the river speak.

'Carve her in pumice or wood, carve her in stone or carve her in bone — she is part of you — believe in her, never love her by halves.

'That is all you need know remembering, no matter how you know her, fashion her, you cannot ever take her with you when you go.

'For when you go friend, go alone remembering, one more bend of the river, the world's your own.'

By Sam Hunt

One of the high interest Telethon fundraising events in Tokoroa was the 'Smith City' carpet competition. The object of the competition was to see how many people could stand on a roll of broadloom carpet. Tokoroa High School looked well on the way to becoming New Zealand champions by managining to balance 78 precarious contestants on the carpet roll.

Sadly, however, we were pipped at the pile by Forest View High School, who eventually went on to become the New Zealand champions and winners of the five thousand dollar cash prize, by balancing an amazing 86 contestants successfully. Well done Forest View!

Pictured here is British television celebrity Mike Smith of the Noel Edmonds Breakfast Show fame and equally well known counterpart, Sarah Green receiving a powhiri at Te Whanau-a-Noa after landing in the school grounds by helicopter.

Mike Smith toured N.Z. compering the Smith City carpet competition and was one of the special overseas personalities brought to New Zealand to co-host Telethon '88.

Music Notes

The music department obtained a grant from the David Henry Trust and was able to purchase a Yamaha PSR-90 keyboard. This is used in group playing and classroom activities. A great asset.

The orchestra: a keen group of students and community members meet regularly in lunch hours and every month combine with a like group from Putaruru. Our performances have been both in Putaruru and Tokoroa.

Members of the group: Keay Burridge, double bass; Silvia Gaugatao, clarinet; Melanie Alderton, clarinet; Mr. and Mrs Alan and Penny Steadman, clarinet; Susan Kirkby (FVHS), violin; Natasha Walworth (Tainui Int.), violin; Horst Miehe, brass; Tyson Wicks, brass; Daniel de Ruyter, brass; Mr John Depree (staff) saxophone; Carol Fargher, sax. and trombone.

We were sorry to lose Mrs Amanda Bond (flute) to Rotorua during the year.

Tokoroa Combined Schools Brass Band

This year (1988) we had a lot of new students, mainly from Tokoroa Intermediate. These pupils were a challenge to Mr Saunders and the rest of the band. With losing Vicki Wolfe and Christopher Robinson, Horst Miehe had to increase his level of playing to live up to the standards they had set.

Johnathan Bell (Form 1, Tokoroa Intermediate) took on the role of playing the Eb Bass, this was the only main change of instruments this year. Rebecca Martin and Carroll Fargher — trombones, auditioned and achieved positions in both the Waikato Symphonic Band and Waikato Combined High Schools Brass Band. Billy McDermount (Tenor Horn) also did well in the auditions.

Tyson Wicks (solo Cornet) had his first major challenge this year when he was asked to play the solo in "Life's Dream Is Over" and "Mac the Knife".

The band has had many successful playouts this year and has achieved a passable standard considering the number of young members. Playing at the various schools around Tokoroa gave the pupils the confidence to achieve an excellent programme at Putaruru's Zonta Club night.

With Christmas coming up, Tokoroa Combined Schools' Brass Band has been asked to play at the R.S.A. widows convention, the A and P Show, Rotary's Christmas Float Parade, various schools prize giving and this year IZO Radio Forestland are recording a selection of Christmas carols — so be sure to tune into your radio station if you miss any of the other playouts.

Tyson Wicks

In addition to playing solo cornet in the band Tyson has been the "Sound Systems Man" at T.H.S. for the past two years. Every week without fail, Tyson sets up the microphone and sound system for assemblies and special functions and even repairs the equipment when needed. A talented lad indeed!

Social Studies Quiz

The Social Studies Quiz held on 17 October proved a very enjoyable experience for everyone. Each Third and Fourth form class was represented by a team of three students and a class mascot, who competed for prizes of Moro Bars and Minties.

The competitions consisted of two heats featuring four teams with the four surviving teams going through to the finals.

Topics included New Zealand, World History, Geography, Environment, Technology, Womens and Human Rights and Current Events. Each team was required to answer 30-40 questions worth one point and 12 bonus questions worth two points.

A system of flashing lights enabled the keener teams to boost their score by accumulating bonus points.

Mr Johns' 40 teams won the Fourth form competition decisively with 38 points — 10 points clear of 4E. The winning team, consisted of Robert Rogers, Micheal Lambert and Shelly Wicheski. Mr Bentley's 30 team won the Third form competition, 17 points ahead of 3T their nearest rivals. The winning team in this section comprised of Jamie Millward, Timothy Vonk and Samantha Day.

Congratulations to all participants and to the winning teams in particular.

Some questions of interest in the competition really required some considerable effort by the teams.

Try testing your own general knowledge on New Zealand:

- 1. Name any of NZ's early Governors.
- Name one thermal and one geothermal power station on the Waikato river.
- What economic activities do you associate with Queenstown and Glenbrook?
- 4. Who was responsible for establishing the NZ Plunket Society?
- Which NZ women led the campaign for womens votes?
- 6. Name NZ's most northern and most southern cities.

Transition 1988

One could say Transition in the Senior School really took off this year. Apart from the time-tabled Fifth form classes and the Sixth form certificate transition class, we operated programmes that involved almost four hundred students off campus for varying periods of time.

Link courses offered ranged through pre-nursing, catering, parenting, office skills, welding and forestry.

We were really gratified by the support offered to the school by employers in the community; fifty three fifth and sixth formers were placed in job situations in terms II and III. They gained a great deal in self-esteem and improved motivation through their experience. Judging from the reports sent in by employers, the scheme was also a good public relations exercise for the school. The frequent checks made on students in the work place by Transition Staff also built up a rapport between employer and school and shed light on the surprising capabilities of some of our less-able students when they were placed in a work environment. We look forward to extending the programme next year.

In term III we were offered the facilities of the Tutukau Trust Farm and six of our students not only learned some farming skills but also gained independent living skills by spending up to twelve days working and living on the farm, cooking and cleaning for themselves. We are grateful to Wiki Wickliffe and the Tututau Trustees for the opportunity given to our students.

We see Transition going from strength to strength, offering options that will encourage our students to make full use of their potential in 1989.

Commerce Department 1988

The beginning of Term III saw us back in EII which had been occupied by the Clothing Department since the fire in February 1987. This now means that we have two rooms fully equipped with electronic machines.

During the year Accounting, Economics and Typing classes have taken part in field trips, office research as well as hosted guest speakers.

For the first time, Form 6 typing classes did a Word Processing Unit — this was organised by Mr Rothwell. Our thanks to him for his assistance.

Many students have been successful in passing Pitmans Typing, NZ Trade Certification Board Typing, and T-line shorthand examinations. Congratulations to all these students.

Library 1988

The library has benefited from two major grants this year — the David Henry N.Z.F.P. Grants scheme donated $1,500 for the purchase of encyclopedias and a very worth while Science set for you all to get information from. The Tokoroa High School Rugby League team won for the second year in succession, $250 for the library as part of their prize for being the top team in the Waikato. The boys chose their books, particularly rugby and rugby league books for you all to enjoy. Let's hope we have such a strong team next year and we can make it three in a row.

The Career's corner is a welcome addition to the library. We have set up a filing cabinet and shelves of folders with all the information students require when selecting a career. The addition of a comfortable couch to this corner has made it a favourite place to read.

Mrs Trebilcock has been backwards and forwards to Wellington College of Education, where she has been training as a Teacher-Librarian along with 17 other teachers throughout New Zealand. She is really looking forward to returning full-time to Tokoroa High School next year to put into practice all the policies, manuals and planning she has been studying this year.

The library team has been ably led by Mr Jim Murray. The work has been made so much easier by the staff on duty and a very willing enthusiastic and reliable group of third form students. They are Richard Cox, Jason Lauder, James Pollock, Dwane Cox, Tim Vonk, Michael Storer, Stevan Elliot.

We thank these people for their continued support and help and hope to see them again in 1989.

Aussie Tour More

Tokoroa High School rugby and netball teams excelled both on and off the sports fields during a two week Australian tour during August.

A little over two weeks after settling into life in Tokoroa the netballers side was back in competition again playing St Peter's Lutheran College, a side they beat 42-36 at Brisbane during the tour.

But as tour leader Henare John, Tokoroa High teacher and coach of the touring rugby team explains the fortnight in Australia was more than just a sporting confrontation.

He shares notes from his diary of the tour with readers of Tahi.

With the tour now completed and two weeks old it would be fair to say that it has lived up to the expectations and goals set some 15 months ago when the idea was first considered.

The tour made available to the students and adults who travelled an unlimited number of shared experiences and situations that would surely live for ever in the hearts and minds of all who participated. It was indeed for many a trip of a life-time.

Our tour proper began in the early morning hours of August 13 when at 5.00 am parents, teachers, students and Kaumatua of Te Whanau a Noa gathered for the official farewell.

The tour party were officially farewelled by Mr John Lambert, Mr Rangi Ngarimu, Mrs Poihaere Barrett, Mr Alesana Letoa and other members of Te Whanau oa Noa, in a very moving and emotional ceremony.

Once the departing prayer was completed by Mr Letoa the bus was loaded and the tour party departed with high spirits for Auckland Airport. Upon our arrival there the group set about entertaining the assembled travellers with waiata and haka learnt over the previous five months. With the applause of the crowd we passed through the departure doors and were on our way.

On our arrival in Sydney we commenced a tour which for the next two weeks would leave very little free time to get bored. We began with a trip to Centre Point from which we had an incredible birds eye view of the whole of Sydney Harbour and surrounding city. On our way to our hotel in King's Cross we did a bit of window shopping in some of the most exclusive shops in Sydney, you needed to be a millionaire just to walk in

The next day we spent the morning shopping at Flemington Markets. On our return to the hotel both the boys and girls settled into their respective practices in preparation for the coming games. It was an extra incentive to the boys when they found out that they were practicing on the same ground the All Blacks practiced on while here for their last tour.

On the Monday morning prior to our first games we went on a harbour cruise from which we were to see and hear about a number of historical sites and incidents from old Sydney. Those convicts must have really wanted to escape from Australia back then.

In the afternoon it was away to Fairfield for the first games. The rugby kicked off the games and tour with a 66-3 win over their opponents, a result which the netball team emulated by downing their opposition 44-39. From this first game and many of the others that were to follow it became quite apparent that our opponents displayed only the best sportsmanship on and off the field and the games were played in best of spirits.

The following day we were to travel north to Newcastle to be hosted by the Mayfield East R.F.C. but just prior to our departure we met with the news of the untimely death of Mr Sam Mathews of Tokoroa, a good friend of many of our group.

We conducted a service in our hotel for Sam and his family. It was a very moving experience, although we were thousands of kilometres from home we felt for Sam and his family. The students, to their credit collected together a Koha and this was sent home.

On our arrival at Newcastle we were met by the supporters and parents of the Mayfield East R.F.C. and billeted out,

On Wednesday morning our hosts had organised a bus to show the students the sights. They were introduced to coal mining and the fabulous beaches around Newcastle. The students arrived back in time for their afternoon games. The netball team commenced the games with a good win over their opponents 54-13 while the rugby team struggled to contain the club's senior side to a 9-9 all draw.

The after match function was a tremendous affair where the students turned on a brilliant performance of walata and haka.

Many of us were sad to leave Newcastle as the hospitality was simply magnificent.

On Thursday we were away to a country town called Kempsey where we were to be hosted by Melville High School. Some of our students certainly won't forget Kempsey as they were assigned housemaids who were to look after them.

On Friday the students were again away sightseeing in the moming where we visited an old prison which housed those famous convicts again. We arrived back to play our games. The netball team again picked up where they left off beating their opponents 54-13 and the rugby followed with a 28-3 victory over a combined Melville High, Kempsey High 1st XV. The three fields we had played on to date were as hard as rock but the boys seemed to handle them well.

On Saturday we departed for Surfers' Paradise and on route stopped in Goffs Harbour for a banana milkshake — what else in the centre of the major banana growing area of Australia?

On our arrival in Surfers it looked like something out of Miami Vice. The accommodation was excellent and all three of our hotels were on the beach front.

The following day we transferred to Benows Netball Club Southport where our netball girls won their game 33-23. The opposition was a lot harder than in the previous three matches and as usual the sportsmanship was outstanding.

From here we travelled on to Sea World which can only be described as amazing. The performing seals, dolphins and killer whales were the highlight of the day. From Sea World we departed to play the rugby game against a Gold Coast U-21 selection, the boys managed to win 40-4.

It was not only satisfying to win by such a large margin but considering the age and maturity of the opposition the team felt well satisfied with their efforts.

On our arrival back at our hotels we met again as a group to conduct a service of prayer for three of our group who had heard of bereavements within their families back in New Zealand. Again this proved to be an emotional time for all but one which we were able to show as group support for each other.

On Monday we departed Surfers Paradise for the banks of the Brisbane river and Expo. Expo was an amazing place, it was a hive of activity and entertainment. The pavilions were magnificent and the New Zealand pavilion seemed to attract the most attention.

We were at Expc on Japan Day and were able to view a number of typical Japanese thestrical and dramatic performances.

It's impossible to clescribe the sights, smells and experiences of Expo '88, but what a show.

Because of rain our planned cruise to Stradbroke Island was cancelled and the Tuesday was spent at leisure.

That night the group went to experience the newly opened Jupiters Casino and the show 'Galaxies' this was a professional show where some of the props and special effects looked like they came out of Star Wars.

After a good night's sleep we departed for Brisbane and our next two games. The boys were to play first against the European Army Base senior side, a game we narrowly won 6-3.

This was a particularly satisfying win as we again were playing opposition that was clearly older and more experienced.

The girls then played St Peter's Lutheran Church winning 42-36. This was a testing game.

That night we took the opportunity to return to Expo and try and see those things we missed out on before.

On the Thursday we made a 10 hour bus trip to our next hosts in a place called Gunnedah. A place much the same size as Tokoroa. We were met by a local pig Farmer called Arthur Smith and bedded down in the local Police Youth Hostel. The students seized the opportunity to exercise bruised limbs through utilising the college gym.

During our journey we were able to see the real Australia which was for the majority of u s the out-back. The countryside was as flat as a pancake with trees scattered here and there. It just seemed like a sea of land stretching off into the horizon.

Stuart Harrison

This year's rugby season started off brilliantly with our first six games being won convincingly. We also had the honour of playing the curtainraiser to the Waikato versus Wales game at Rugby Park in Hamilton. Our opponents for the day were Church College, whom we were to play later in the season for the prestigious Tricolor Trophy; the symbol of supremacy in Waikato Secondary Schools rugby. After a disastrous start, where we were down 20-nil after 20 minutes, we fought back to be finally defeated 35 to 29. Prior to this important game we had disposed of our traditional rivals, Forest View High School, winning 22-12. We were then positive we could take the Tricolor Trophy from Church College N.Z. but alas, we were unsuccessful by the very close margin of 4-3.

However, this game was a very gutsy effort from the boys and a great confidence for our up and coming Australian tour.

Sadly, after this loss we appeared to go off the boil, losing to teams which going on our previous form, should not have come close to beating us.

Great effort and dedication was shown by Crossley Ngapo and Neville Brydon, who both obtained under sixteen Waikato Rep status, and by Tony Petero who gave up his Australian trip to take up his place in the Waikato Secondary Schools team.

To all those supporters, players, coaches and our manager, we extend our thanks for your support throughout a busy and very rewarding rugby year.

Coach's Comment

The 1st XV began the season with an excellent foundation of strong players from the previous season. The 1st XV trials in April brought to light a number of promising players who were able to mould into the existing learn well.

This season was irruly a season of highlights. A high standard of play was achieved and maintained throughout the Waikato Schools competition, seven-a-side tournament and, of course, our Australian itinerary of games.

The season as a whole was very enjoyable and successful. As a team we achieved some excellent results and gained another year of experience.

As coach, I would like to thank and congratulate the boys for their efforts and especially my assistant coach, Mr L. Ngapo, manager Mr B. Barbarich and all these supporters who supported us throughout the season.

Next year also prornises to be an interesting year with quite a number of this year's players returning to school and a number of new players making their presence felt.

2nd XV Captains Comment

As captain of this years second XV, I would like to thank on behalf of the team our coach and manager Mr John Griffiths and Raymond Mc Ivor for their time and effort, trying to turn us into a team.

This year our game pattern had an unusual flavour, because we combined Welsh brilliance with native flair which kept the opposition wondering what we would do next.

Even though losses outnumbered wins we still kept turning up each Saturday to give it our best because we were representing 'our school'. So thanks for your dedication and loyalty to the team guys. Lastly I would like to congratulate the players who went to Australia with the first XV and to all the guys. I wish you the best of luck and hope you have a prosperous season next year.

The team consisted of three groups of boys.

First: Langdon's Wizz Kids, who were mainly seventh formers who fitted their sport in between bouts of academic

The second group, "Dad's Army" whose commander was none other than David Edgar with mascot 'Mambo', specialised in the "bullett" theory, particularly in practice sessions. When going on to the battle field on Saturdays, their favourite call was "Retreat".

The last faction of the team, was the by now famous "Island Connection". They could be guaranteed to be last to training, last into the rucks, last out of the showers but first into the post-match feeds! The "Connections" fan club consisted of a pack of rampant nubiles from 3A.

The boys played well all season despite being placed in a more difficult league than they should have been in.

Thanks goes to Ray McIver and all the referees who have assisted throughout the season.

Kia Ora, Kia Orana, Talofa — Greetings

The game is booming at our school due to success gained by our 1987 A team, individual student in South Waikato Rep. Teams captaincy of Pania Papa and also her selection into the under 21 New Zealand team, dedication of Coach Puapii Ngatae for nine years in a row she coached the A team and many other coaches. The support of the principal Mr Lambert and Mr Sommerville, parents and students.

This year our A team attained Premier Grade; captained by Terri-Ann Sommerville. The team was slow to click but as the season progressed great improvement was shown and the team played in the Halligan Shield and only lost one game by one point. All the girls were selected to travel to Australia with the exception of Terri-Ann who went to U.S.A. instead for the Exchange Student Scheme.

Many thanks to Mrs Numia Nooroa, Mrs Jean Tuarae, Michelle Treadaway, Nane Lockington, Sharon Blomfield, Shannon Watene, Leah Temiha, Natalie De Vorms who coached successfully throughout the season.

Congratulations to: K. Glass and T. Tetava under 16 South Waikato reps. All the trophy winners.

To all the players, I wish you all a successful future and hopefully, you will continue to play heartily as your former colleagues and to uplift the standard of netball as it is now and the name of our School.

Na te Atua kotou e tauturu, e ahamania mai. Kia Orana.

Mama Maea

Senior A Netball Team

The netball season started with people doubting the team's chance of getting into the Premiere Grade for a second time.

Once the team had heard this we went out to prove to everyone that we could make it into the Premiere Grade and that we deserved to be there.

Having three new players in the team meant that we had to get to know how each other played. At first this was hard but as the season progressed the team improved in every game.

The team played all their games with a good team spirit, a positive attitude, and the most important factor was that the girls enjoyed themselves.

The team would like to thank Mama Maea, Numia and Puapii for their help and support during the season.

We would also like to thank Marama, Mita, Angela, Leeann, Kura and the other players who filled in for our team when we needed you.

The 1988 season has been very successful for the Tokoroa High School First XI girls hockey.

Sometimes there was riot much up to top but we enjoyed each game and as coaches Mrs Cave-Higgins and Co-coach Mr Taniwha, it was a pleasure being there.

During the season, the games played were evenly won and lost bet-ween us and the rest of the Bay of Plenty district teams.

Being captain of the 1 set XI girls hockey team was a good experience that I really enjoyed.

Part of the captaincy was making decisions and they weren't always the right ones. After the games you get the coach saying "Why didn't you do what I told you while you were up there"? So you have to do a lot of yelling and encourage he team to do the right thing and also I have to do a lot of thinking.

However we went through the season with the girls improving in every game.

My congratications is the girls who made the 1st XI this year and thank you for everything that you all did throughout this season.

To our coaches Mrs Ceave-Higgins and Mr Taniwha thanks for a job well done.

To others who may be here next year good luck and enjoy your

The 1988 Secondary School Nationals were held at Taupo in April. The 20 gate whitewater course on the upper Walkato proved a real challenge to competitors from the 30 North Island schools attending.

Michael and Dyson were well placed in the senior boys event with our new fibreglass competition boat both improving everyones times quite markedly and eliminating capsizes completely.

The downriver race was held over 6kms on the upper Waikato with Craig and Chris recording excellent times along with Connie and Pauline.

Canoe polo at the Taupo AC Baths took the form of a knockout competition with our A team eventually losing to Otaki HS which then went on to win the tournament.

Our canceist of the year is Dyson Beasely for his sound leadership at the nationals.

Michael Bailey, former team captain, has shifted away from Tokoroa and we wish him well at his new school. The canoeing year will end with a canoe surfing visit to Mount Maunganui.

A big thankyou to all parents who supplied transportation for the 1988 nationals and to Mr Van Der Zee who acted as team manager.

Te Puna Wai Ora has had another year of full involvement in the life of the school and community. Our young people have acquitted themselves admirably in all facets of their culture and we can all feel very proud of them.

Highlights of the year for our students include being the special guests artists at the national Business and Professional Women's conference and the wonderful performances given by all three groups in entertaining the capacity crowd participating in the Korimaki speech contest which was hosted by Tokoroa High School.

No reira, ma te Atua tatou katoa e tiaki, e manaaki i nga wa katoa. R. Ngarimu Tutor's comments: This year Samoan Te Puna Wai Ora started off very well with a lot of students. The group formed together for the first time and it was a great year for our Samoan group.

Thanks to all our tutors, Mrs Faurnui, Mrs Sue and Mr Letoa for their hard work throughout the year. The group, thanks for all the good performances. Others who may be here next year, good luck.

Don't be ashamed of who and what you are. Be proud to be a Samoan. Manuia le alo atu mo le kirisimasi ma le Tausaga fou.

Tofa Soifua, Etevise Mauai

This year gaining the expertise of Mr Pita Monga along with Mrs Tai Nooroa, there has been a boost in the 'Drum Dance' area of the Cook Islands Puna Wai Ora.

The students, both boys and girls, have improved tremendously in dancing and singing — Vernes, Mareta, Georgina, Teokotai are outstanding amongst the girls. Junior, Steven Ratai, Robyn, Jay are champions amongst the boys.

Teariki, Reelerman, Tupapaa, Joey and John, along with Mr Monga, dedicated themselves to the lively, stimulating sound of the drums. Steven Ngatamariki and Mrs Nooroa worked hard with the guitar and hukalele strumming.

Last but not least, thanks to the big chief Mrs Maea, for directing and organising programmes for the group.

Summer

The school year draws to a close the sun is bright the atmosphere makes you feel happy to live. Holidays near yet I still fear the prospect of summer boredom.

Remember the days of twenty-three degrees (celcius I think) and hoping for an iceblock or a cool and soothing drink.
Visit many places
catch up with friends you know wake up when you want to.
Let the summer days pass so slow.

Who worries about winter with summer still to come. Say goodbye to frozen toes welcome the blazing sun.

Helen Mace

Winning poem in the Junior Poetry competition, "Summer" by Helen Mace.

Campfire

Laughing, chattering youngsters with rosy cheeks and eyes like candle flames surround the mountainous heap of rotten wood and newspaper. Cheers of joy go up, as a lighted taper is touched to the newspaper. Greedy serpent's tongues of orange and red flame flicker over the newspaper, and the printed black and white is replaced by a charred blackness. Faster and faster the flames move, like frenetic dancers dressed in reds, pinks, oranges and golds, as if performing a smoothly sinuous dance.

The first wood catches fire and the flames lengthen now for all the world as if they are reaching, like glowing golden arms, reaching forever more. "To the sky, to the sky" they call and yet somehow, as much as they reach and stretch, there is always that bit further to reach.

Singing begins, around the fire, boisterous, rollicking songs. The heat intensifies, as the flames die down, like a soothing warm blanket, surrounding the darkness, draping itself over the countryside.

The singing dies down, and so do the flames. As the last plaintive notes are sung, the fire collapses, shooting sparks like neon confetti. As the tired youngsters are bundled home by loving parents, a heap of glowing embers remain, like the broken glass of a stained glass window, or a carpet of autumn leaves.

In the morning, all that remains is a pile of charred wood and ashes. What has happened to the spirits of the fire? Will they ever dance again?

School Triathlon

On the 14th of July this year, the school triathlon was held against Forest View at Lake Moananui. The course consisted of girls — 1.5 canoe; 10km cycle; 2.5 km run; while the boys and teams event meant the competitors had to complete a course of 2.5km canoe, 10km cycle and a 5km run — what a killer!

About 60 competitors completed the event exhausted, drained of energy but pleased with their efforts with a few people 'soaked-to-the-bone' due to an unplanned swim in the cance section.

Of the three events, the canoeing proved to be the most challenging with people finding it hard to go in a straight line, deciding that going in a circular path was a faster way of getting from A to B, obviously this proved not to be so. Two competitors even decided that the weather was a bit too hot, and so decided that a swim in the lake was the thing to do. The other events, however, proved that skill was not a factor, and by the time the running was in session it was more of a thing as to finishing, rather than how to complete it.

The competition between competitors was great which saw David Edgar come out on top of the boys section ahead of Brendon Green and in the girls section Shelly Walton showed her dominance as she 'blitzed' everyone in the girls section. Forest View, however, won the teams event, but before they can boast about it, it should be noted that their time would have placed them only 3rd in the boys event.

The day was a massive success for Tokoroa High School, of course, as the boys were separated from the men, in other words Forest Views got a lot of growing up to dol It was a day where our school showed just who was the most athletic — we are the iron men of the future! (And 'yes' that goes for you too Ric).

Everyone gave it 'heaps' on the day, as Sam Livingstone proved himself to being a gutsy little dude, making the point that age and size are nothing as he lead the boys section for a good part of the race. In the girls section Terri-Anne Sommerville and Nicole Gall did well to finish 3rd and 4th — and don't worry Rachel, I'm sure you'll do a lot better next time — just brush up on the canoeing.

All-in-all it was an excellent day and maybe next year if someone decides to organise it, it will prove just as successful, and maybe our school can make it a clean sweep taking out all the top places in both the individual and teams events. Congratulations to all competitors and who knows, with a bit of training Ric, the South Island coast-to-coast would be a possibility.

Results: Open boys: 1 David Edgar 49 min 24 Tokoroa High; 2 Brendon Green 50 min 37 Tokoroa High; 3 Greg Coulter 52 min 02 Tokoroa High.

Open girls: 1 Shelly Walton 48 min 49 Tokoroa High; 2 Rachel Emmerson 50 min 01 Forest View; 3 Terri-Anne Sommerville 51 min 18 Tokoroa High.

Teams: 1 Forest View 50 min 46; 2 Forest View 51 min 35; 3 Tokoroa High 52 min 46.

Tokoroa High Cross Country Results

The 1988 school cross country champs were again held around the pleasant Lake Moana-nui circuit, toward the end of term II.

Although fields were relatively small, all participants were keen and of a high standard.

The Senior Boys and Girls champion were Brendon Green and Jodi Carter respectively.

From the school champs a team was selected to travel to the Waikato Championships competing against 52 other Secondary Schools.

Outstanding performer here was Kevin Pye in the Junior boys grade finishing 9th out of 150 boys. The Junior boys team recorded a time 14th placing. The other notable run came from Deidre Martin who came home 28th in the Junior girls field.

Guess who?

School Council

So far this year, the student council has given out well in excess of $4000 to people that have asked us for financial assistance. One of our main purposes is to give money to students who are representing the school.

Some of these groups included the Australian tour group, indoor hockey, Maori speech competition, girls' hockey, to name a few. The money we give out is the profit from mufti days and socials so student support is necessary.

This year we had three socials all held at Cinderellas, and one, very successful "Halloween" Senior Ball. Just one of the perks of being on the executive committee was the free tickets we received to the Forest View Ball, which Joe, Brendon, Hayley and I all enjoyed.

In the second term we printed our first newsletter, it was meant to let the school know what we had been doing. We hope it will continue next year.

Apart from our official duties we had a good time, i.e. raising money for Telethon. We kidnapped Ropey from Radio Forestland and held him to ransom, raising over $500.

If you're thinking of running for the council next year I suggest you do. It's well worth it!

Look at them;
there they go,
not knowing
what is out there.
All those kids marching, marching to the big wide world.
And who knows,
they might be able to survive in that rat race
out there.

Look at them;
there they go.
They left school eagerly to go out there hoping to find a place in society.
I wonder if they'll make it?
Some people do but,
it's usually the dole;
but if you do,
good on ya!
And have a very Merry Christmas too.

The Magazine Committee acknowledges the generous donation from the 1988 School Council which has enabled us to have our first colour page spread.

Luck is what happens when preparation meets opportunity.
